

“Rushmoor Christmas Angels” February 2018

Hello everyone, well where has January gone?

You will never guess what? I was contacted a week or so ago and was told “I currently have around 130 completed angels (some knitted but mainly crocheted), a few more which just need wings stitching on, and a lot of heads that need completing”. This dear lady was planning to get the angels to us ready for them to be distributed Christmas 2017 but plans never quite fell into place.....so the good news is we already have 130 angels ready to go for Rushmoor Christmas Angels 2018

You may have seen on Facebook that one of our angels was only found a few weeks into January so it is always worth checking back with the FB page to see how our angels keep appearing throughout the year. In fact as we are putting this letter together we have just heard from someone who found one of our angels on 27th January by the Wellington Statue in Aldershot.

We now have well over 100 people knitting for us so who knows how many angels will be flying out around Rushmoor this coming Christmas.

Angel week 2018 will run from Monday 10th- Friday 14th.

Once again thank you all that you do in making this project the success it is.
