

“Rushmoor Christmas Angels” September 2018 Newsletter

Hello everyone,

The aisles in TESCO and the darker evenings are reminding us all that Christmas is not too far away.

We don't know about your but we are sensing a real buzz as “Angel Week 2018” approaches. We are still growing our team of knitters, it seems that each week someone else offer to help.

Exciting news!! “Rushmoor Christmas Angels” is going to be featured in the November edition of “Let's Knit” magazine which is available from 25th October in “All good bookshops”. Let's Knit, according to their publicity is “The UK's bestselling knitting magazine, [providing] everything the modern knitter needs. Packed with patterns, it's the freshest, liveliest, best value knitting magazine on the market”!

Please don't forget our annual “Angel Party” at North Camp Methodist Church on Sat 20th October from 10am-12 midday. This is a time when our “knitters” and helpers can meet together for a morning of “knitting”, “nattering” drinking tea and coffee, eating cake (angel cake of course) and generally getting excited about this years “Rushmoor's Christmas Angel project”. We will have a number of laminators steadily producing sheets of labels ready to attach to the angels. We are delighted to say that the Mayor of Rushmoor, Cllr Steve Masterson will be joining us on this morning.

Another date for your diary is Thursday 6th December. At 7pm on this evening we will be holding hold a short dedication service at North Camp Methodist Church for all those have knitted angels and all those who will be distributing our angels around Rushmoor the following week. Father Keith from St Augustine's Church, Aldershot will be sharing some thoughts about “Christmas Angels” in this service. You are all warmly invited to come along. If you have knitted angels but are unable to place them around out community during “Angel week” you can leave the angels with us on this evening and we will make sure they are all placed around our community.
